

NJANSA

New Jersey Association of New Student Advocates

The New Jersey Association of New Student Advocates promotes and develops student success in higher education at various two-year and four-year institutions, both public and private, from areas of student and academic affairs.

NJANSA Charter Institutions: Bergen Community College, Bloomfield College, Caldwell College, Kean University, Monmouth University, Montclair State University, Saint Peter's College, Seton Hall University, Union County College, and William Paterson University.

Find out more including the celebration of our 10th anniversary in October at www.njansa.org. Like us on Facebook!

Sign Up Now!

NJANSA Spring Meeting

Higher Education Policy Issues and Their Impact on First-Year Programs

Continuing with the theme of our October 2013 conference, we will be discussing higher education policy issues that shape how our institutions strive for and demonstrate effectiveness. As first-year student outcomes lay the groundwork for this effectiveness, the successful performance of FYE programs contribute greatly to the overall success of our colleges and universities.

Come learn more about what is on the forecast for higher education and the important role your FYE program will play in helping your institution achieve its desired results. We will be joined by Barbara Berreski from New Jersey Association of State Colleges and Universities (NJASCU) and a panel of leaders from 2-year and 4-year institutions from around the state.

Join us on Friday, April 4th
Middlesex County College

9:30am - 2pm

Lunch will be provided

Deadline to register is March 20th